Our favorite antagonists
go to the mat again

The recent and unnatural entente cordiale between the Carmel Business Association and the Carmel City Council already shows signs of wearing thin and the traditional antagonism again raises its not too sinister head.

As one would expect, the strain on cordial relations arises from a well worn point of difference, namely, the cleanliness of Carmel streets and sidewalks. For years the merchants have been complaining of the littered, dirty, we will not say repulsive, condition of the streets of the business area, to which the city council had the stock answer that if the merchants would not sweep the trash out of their stores across the sidewalk and into the gutter, the streets would not be so littered, dirty, etc.

The merchants indignantly denied that the debris they swept off the sidewalk into the gutters originated in their stores; on the contrary, it was community debris dropped on the sidewalks by the general public, which everybody knows is untidy in the extreme, and in sweeping the litter into the gutter, the merchants considered that they were doing a civic service, and that the city council was ungracious, indeed, to cover its own negligence with accusations against the public spirited merchants.

The city council never conceded the point, but several months ago it increased the street sweeps from one a week to two.

But, behold, the desired results were not obtained. The streets still appeared unpleasantly messy, and the council lifted up its voice to announce that even a daily sweep would not be effective so long as the merchants continued to sweep the trash from the sidewalks into the gutters a few minutes after the street department crew had tidied up the streets. Two weeks ago the council conveyed this thought to the business association in an official letter which was read to the merchants at their quarterly meeting.

The merchants, hurt and indignant, pointed out that they sweep the sidewalks first thing in the morning when they open up their places of business, but they certainly aren't going to get up before daylight, as would be necessary if they were to do their sweeping ahead of the street department, and if the city council is so disturbed over the time and manner in which the merchants sweep the sidewalks, from now on the city council, through the agency of the street department, can sweep those sidewalks itself. This latter suggestion has been conveyed in a letter to the city council which will be read with due formality by the city clerk, at the regular council meeting next Wednesday.

It looks as if the merchants have won this round, doesn't it? But don't be too sure. The city council still has an ace up its sleeve. We know; we have special inside information. —Wilma Cook.

From Oils To Tin, Wide Range Of Expression In Three New Shows; Watercolors Have Edge On Oils

BY NANCY LOFTON

The Carmel Art Association Gallery on Dolores blazed with lights and echoed with the sound of hammers until an early hour Thursday morning as the hanging committee of the Art Association with the assistance of several volunteers sorted, selected, arranged and eventually hung some 60 new pictures, which is no small feat for one evening. Sam Colburn, Sophie Harpe, Marjorie and Robert Doolittle, Leslie Emery, Maxine Albro, Parker Hall and Richard Lofton worked and worried until the new show was hung fittingly.

As usual in a general oil and water color show the work shown is of several degrees of excellence and character. In the new shows you can find satire, surrealism, fantasy, expressionism, impressionism and the blandest of landscapes.

In the central portrait gallery are several new portraits by Howard Smith, Richard Lofton, Henrietta Shore and Florence Lockwood which make an interesting group to study, and in the same room is a group of tin work by Chloe Wilson of Carmel Highlands. Miss Wilson's work is almost incredible. She takes tin, ruffles, cuts, trims, beats it and pounds it and the result is delicate, beautiful and amusing. Her tin candelabra are wonderfully gowned and coiffed tin maidens, worked with great care. Her tin boxes and tin flowers are delightful and might have come from the Kingdom of Oz itself.

The water color show seems better than the oil show on the whole. The general level of the work is competent and there are several pictures which I found exciting. Burton Boundey's luminous sun-filled sand pit carries well. He communicates perfectly a feeling of hot dry atmosphere walling in a small space of earth. Sam Colburn and Royden Martin both have solid water colors in the show. Mr. Colburn's picture, another in his studies of farm patterns, has a neat, cool, clean quality in its arrangement of abstract volumes. Rollin Pickford's water color of cypress and water is full of life and very joyous. Its movement is fine and quick.

In the general oil show you can find just about whatever you look for, which is certainly a truism, but there it is. If you want etudes, painterly variations on a simple theme, experiments in volume and atmospheres, in textures and forms, look for the work of Marjorie Doolittle, Kent Daniells, Patricia Cunningham, Sophie Harpe, Armin Hansen, and Sam Harris. Their subject matter is varied and not over emphasized. In each case the painter is using his subject matter as a means to an end, to explore, express or explain the behaviour of light and form and volume. Kent Daniell's picture is a small dissertation on the behaviour of different surfaces and substances all in white when confronted with small accents of color. He relates his form and color efficiently.

There is pure charm in Martin Baer's canvas of calm happy children and fairy beasts and as always in Mr. Baer's canvases a feeling for the identity of paint. In Leslie Buck's painstakingly executed canvas of onions there is a curious and interesting feeling of dryness and acidity, and in E. R. Lambertson's canvas called Arroyo there is calmness and serenity and a fair understanding of what he is putting on canvas.

The show is interesting. There are many comparisons to be made and many conclusions to be drawn, but the pictures should be looked at first with a comprehending eye.

McEwen Hospitalized, New Personnel In Carmel Police Dept.

Arthur McEwen, desk officer for the Carmel police department, was taken to the hospital Saturday for an emergency operation for appendicitis. Paul Rink, Mission Street, a recent addition to the force, will be in charge of the desk during Officer McEwen's illness. Another new addition to the force is J. D. Vekander of Oakland, who will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Frank Hay, who terminated a two months' leave of absence with a letter of resignation from Vacaville. He plans to go into business for himself.

Wofard Dufur, who has had leave of absence during the summer to attend F. B. I. School in Washington, D.C., is expected back between October 12 and 15.

Meanwhile, Chief of Police Roy Frates, has had to defer his vacation several times, because of the shifts in personnel. He hopes to leave next week for Oklahoma where Mrs. Frates is visiting with Major and Mrs. Gus Weiser.

NEW PIANO

Franklin Dixon, president of the Carmel Music Society, has just announced that the new Steinway Concert Grand has arrived and will come into its first use for the first concert of the winter series, Nov. 22. At present it is being kept in the piano garage on the stage of the Sunset Auditorium.

Carmel To Have Dial Telephones, New Exchange

A period has been placed on the old village custom of taking it out on the telephone operator. The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, which has been getting along for nearly a quarter of a century in Carmel with the old "number please" system of telephone exchange, is to install dial telephones here as soon as a new office building is completed on a newly purchased lot.

Carmel Valley also is to have dial phones, and an exchange of its own, D. D. Muir, peninsula manager for the phone company, told the Pine Cone yesterday.

The Carmel central office building, which with the dial system will cost $375,000, is to be constructed on the lot on Seventh Avenue between Mission and Junipero, across the street from the Police Department's new blue and white cottage headquarters. The site was purchased from Elizabeth McClung White, a Carmel old timer, who says she is glad to sell the property to another Carmel old timer (the P. T. and T. has been here, through thick and thin, since 1926). Miss White says she is confident that trees will be spared on the lot wherever possible and that the new building will be a credit to the community.

Building operations are to begin shortly after Christmas, Muir says, and the dial system will be placed in service in 1949.

3 Carmel Artists Win Awards At County Fair

In the Fine Arts Building at the County Fair last week, by popular vote of the 3500 visitors, awards were made to Albert deRome's oil painting, Sunlit Sands, $150; to Mrs. Charles Trammell's Head, $85, and to Arthur Hill Gilbert's landscape, Dew'd Hill, $60. All three winners are members of the Carmel Art Association.

Mr. Gilbert, a resident of Pebble Beach for the last 30 years, was the youngest artist ever to be elected to membership in the National Academy of Design when he first achieved recognition.

The Committee appointed by the Carmel Art Association to arrange for the exhibit consisted of Frank H. Myers, Chairman, Gene McComas, Sam Colburn, Richard Lofton and Howell Armor.

RENT MEETING

The Rent Advisory Board (Monterey District) will hold its first public meeting Monday evening, October 6, between 7:30 p. m. and 9:00 p. m. The meeting will be held at the Rent Control Office, 467 Alvarado Street, Monterey.

Landlords or tenants who have a grievance in connection with rent matters may appear at this meeting to state their case to the board.

DR. THURMAN, SPEAKER

Dr. Howard Thurman, under the sponsorship of the Council for Civic Unity, will speak Thursday evening, October 9, at 8:00 p. m. at the Church of the Wayfarer.

Dr. Thurman is co-pastor of the All Peoples' Church in San Francisco, and those who have heard him speak are enthusiastic in his praise. The meeting is open to the public.

BIRTH OF A VILLAGE

Who remembers how Ocean Avenue got its trees? How many recall the black morning when merchants came to unlock their shops and found that someone, during the night, had levelled the pine trees along the north side of Ocean? What distinguished writers became Carmel residents when the 1906 earthquake in San Francisco made them homeless?

Daisy Bostick's Carmel Story takes up one of the most interesting periods of Carmel's development in Chapter IV, The Birth of a Village, on the Feature Page of this issue.

It's Here Again, Time For Big Ride On The Fire Engine

Vincent Torres, Fire Chief, last evening called a special meeting of the members of the Fire Department to make plans for Fire Prevention Week, October 5 to 12.

Fred J. Mylar, Assistant Chief, was given charge of arranging to cooperate with Sunset School for the receiving of each class separately at the Fire Station. After being instructed in fire prevention, the boys and girls will be returned to their school in the fire truck. Members of the department will cover the business zone with special inspections, and several thousand pieces of literature on fire prevention will be distributed by way of school children.

Next Thursday evening Chief Torres will conduct a special drill for the fire fighters as the closing event of the week.

Old Clothes Drive Closes Saturday Night

Mrs. Mary Louise Deissler, chairman in charge of the Old Clothes Drive for the American Friends Service Committee, has arranged to leave the big box near the Post Office for the remainder of this week. Until Saturday night old clothes may be deposited there for shipment to the needy in Europe. Assisting in the cleaning and mending of the clothes are Mrs. Paul Low, Mrs. Stanley Pedder, Mrs. Edna Lockwood, Carol Card and Mrs. Edward Kuster, while Postmaster Ernest Bixler prepares the boxes for shipment.

At any time after Saturday night Mrs. Mary Louise Deissler will accept at her home clothes that Carmelites wish to donate, if they will phone her at 2208-W. She will arrange to deliver packages to the Quakers in San Francisco throughout the year.

SATURDAY, Nov. 3—Campbell at Carmel, 2 p.m.; Monterey at San Jose, 2 p.m.

THURSDAY, Nov. 9 — Salinas lightweights at Carmel, 4 p.m.

FRIDAY, Nov. 10 — Carmel at Pacific Grove, 8 p.m.

PADRES BATTLE CAMPBELL TOMORROW AFTERNOON AT BARDARSON FIELD

Carmel High School gridders will see lots of action this weekend when both teams take on tough opposition. Tonight at 6:30 on the Watsonville turf the light-weights will tackle the classy Watsonville lightweights, while tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, the varsity will play host to the potent Campbell varsity. In their last outing the Watsonville Babes trimmed the Monterey light by a 27-21 score. The score indicates that Watsonville has plenty of offense and will give the scrappy Padres an interesting evening. Many of the Padre Babes will be getting their first taste of competitive football so it is practically impossible to forecast the outcome of the game. In scrimmage sessions this week the lightweights have shown flashes of offensive power and have mustered enough defense to hold the varsity reserves in check. Sparking the lightweights will be Jim Hare who handles the throttle from his quarterback spot. Jim is one of the best passers at Carmel High and is developing into a first rate T formation quarterback. Ready to carry the mail when Hare gives the signal will be: Walt Frey, Frank Richey, Lagare McNeill, Jim Moran, Al Green, Neils Reimers, Keith MacKenzie, and Ron Stoney. Starting on the forward wall will be: Pete Berg, Harry Watson, Howard DeAmaral, Frank Timmins, Jack Galloway, Pierre Boutet, and Ted Lafleur. Regardless of the outcome, the boys will pick up some valuable game experience which will smooth the way for tough engagements later in the season.

Campbell High School, with an enrollment of 800, is located a few miles out of San Jose, and boasts one of the best football teams in the Santa Clara Valley League. Returning from last year's team, which beat Carmel 13 to 0, are two all-league backs who ran rampant through SCAL opposition last season. A well-padded 180 pound line will offer plenty of contention for the Padre forwards if they are to open holes for the pony backs. If the Carmel lads improve over the Gustine game as they did the Monterey JV fracas, they will be capable of giving the highly-touted Campbell team a good workout. The running of Tom Handley, Dick Garguilo, Lew McCreery, Bob Barry, and Murrey Wight piled up substantial yardage against Gustine and the line, led by Rod Dewar and Floyd Adams, opened up good running lanes.

Probable starting lineup for the Carmel varsity:

CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL GRIDDERS UPSET GUSTINE

Thoroughly enjoying their role of underdog, the Carmel High School varsity rolled over a good Gustine grid machine, by a 13 to 0 count last Friday night at Gustine. The Indians fielded an all senior eleven which looked capable of taking the smaller Padres to the cleaners. However, the Carmel boys went to work from the opening kickoff and completely took the play away from the sturdy valley boys. With Dick Garguilo and Tom Handley carrying the brunt of the attack, the Padres had a touchdown early in the second quarter, and were knocking at the door again when the gun ended the first half. Garguilo tallied the first 6 for the locals when he cut off tackle, behind Dewar's key block, and rammed 24 yards to pay dirt. Owen Greenan gathered Paul Warner's pass for the extra point. Gustine's 5 man line proved a little stubborn during the first quarter, but Warner found the solution in the second heat and sent the fast Padre backs through the wide running lanes created by stellar line blocking. Dewar and Adams were especially damaging to the Gustine defense by their terrific downfield blocking.

Gustine, employing the T formation for the first time, were having trouble with their play timing which resulted in several instances of sloppy ball handling. They had some swift and hard running backs, but the alert Padre linemen were picking them up before they hit the line of scrimmage. The Padres scored their final tally in the 4th period, when Rod Dewar broke through to block a Gustine punt and Floyd Adams picked up the rolling pigskin and scampered 25 yards for the Precious 6. Warner's pass was broken up by the Gustine safety man, and the score stood—Carmel 13, Gustine 0.

Statistics on the game showed Carmel gaining 229 yards to 48 for Gustine, and Carmel had 15 first downs to 6 for Gustine. Carmel completed 4 forward passes and the Indians connected for 1. The Padre line was giving the Gustine passer a bad evening by their constant pressure on the Indian backfield.

Starting lineup for Carmel: Owen Greenan, Newt Goodrich, Rod Dewar, Art Harber, Bill Hodgson, Floyd Adams, Curtis Gorham, Nelson Byers, Murrey Wight, Dan Holmes, and Bob Barry. Other Carmel players who saw action during the game were: Mike Monahan, Les Bracisco, Elton Clark, Basil Allaire, Frank Timmins, Tom Corley, Dick Sumner, Bob Rissell, Dick Weer, Bill Johnson, Paul Warner, Jim Hare, John Blinks, Dick Garguilo, Lew McCreery, and Tom Handley.

Hi Chatter

By PEGGY RIKER

Monday Carmel High started on its building venture amid much noise and confusion. With bulldozers and trucks in evidence on the grounds, the first step in the plan is well under way. Under construction is an art room, as well as a science room to be used for physics, chemistry, and biology. This is only the beginning. By the time the additions are finished, Carmel should have one of the best equipped and most beautiful high schools on the coast.

After soundly defeating Gustine last Friday 13 to 0, the Carmel 11 come up against tougher competition this Saturday at 2:00 when they meet Campbell on our home field. The Padres are out to maintain their good showing of last week and it is hoped that the townspeople will turn out to give them added support.

This Wednesday the respective classes held their first class meetings of the year. The seniors had the important task of choosing a photographer, from the myriad ones who sent in samples of their work, to take the senior class pictures. The seniors who were selected to take the Pepsi-Cola Scholarship test were announced. The students who will take this examination on November are: John Blinks, Bob Barry, Mat Schmutz, and Peggy Riker. The weighty decision of class rings kept the Juniors busy, while the Sophomores made plans for their "Sadie Hawkins Dance", to be held the 24th of this month.

The following officers were elected by the eighth grade: Skipper Lloyd, president; Stanley Fralick, vice-president; Nancy Bacon, secretary; Stewart Emery and Julia Graves representatives to the executive council.

Last year a new organization sprang up on the campus under the guidance of Miss Dorothy Wright, girls' vice principal. The Girl's League includes all the girls in the school and has a wide scope of activities. Under able leadership of Jan Masten, president; Joan Harrington, vice-president; Betty Hendricks, secretary; its first meeting will be held Monday, at which time 10 delegates will be chosen to attend a district conference in Salinas on October 25.

Friday, October 3, 6:30 p.m. marks Carmel High Schools' first appearance on the schools KDON

Free Pass To New Wonder World In Microbiology Class

Every Wednesday evening at 7:30, at the Carmel High School, Enid Larsen gives an illustrated lecture on microbiology and invites the members of the class to explore the invisible world where a grain of sand surprises by its color and where a crystal, seen in polarized light, gives an unforgettable experience.

"For almost 300 years explorers with a microscope have experienced a rare thrill," said Charles Dawson, principal of the Adult School, "and it is still an unexcelled adventure to examine the wing of a fly or a drop of water through a microscope. The fish pond in your own yard is a strange world where green plants swim, where plants live in intricately sculptured glass houses."

Those wishing an introduction to the hobby of using a microscope are able to satisfy that impulse by registering in this class next Wednesday evening.

40,000 Visit Fair In 4 Day Celebration

Everyone had a grand time at last week's Monterey County Fair, with officials estimating that more than 40,000 persons visited the grounds during the four-day festival.

The exhibits were handled excellently, with the school, horticultural and art exhibits drawing hundreds of interested spectators at all hours of the days and evenings when the buildings were open to the public.

Corn-on-the-cob, hot dogs, burgers, candied apples, all a part of the traditional fair, were in evidence in quantity. A trick monkey drew crowds of amused visitors.

Highlight of the four-day event was the horse show, which was presented both afternoons and evenings. Entries were listed from all over California. Local horsemen, with their mounts, won a number of awards during the exciting events.

GRASS FIRE

Last Saturday morning at 4:30 a grass fire was started on the Parsons' ranch in Carmel Valley, and it extended over half an acre before it was checked at 6:00 o'clock. Cause is unknown and no serious damage resulted.

Bites Hand That Led

William C. Watts, Carmel Highlands artist, was bitten on the hand this week by two dogs. Mr. Watts was visiting Dr. Margaret Levick and offered to take her little dog for a stroll. While leading the dog around the block, two cantankerous Boston bull dashed out and attacked the Levick pup, and in the fracas Mr. Watts was bitten eight or ten times on the hand. Luckily it was not his painting hand and the wounds have proved not to be serious.

Oakland Trib. Drama Critic Appreciates Our Marcia Kuster

During the current run of The Bees and Flowers at the Golden Bough Playhouse the drama editor of the Oakland Tribune, Wood Soanes, came to Carmel to forget his profession — and went to the play. In the September 28 issue of his paper he had this to say:

"The Bees and Flowers, for all its limitations, made an agreeable evening's entertainment. The audience came prepared to have a good time and was determined not to let the insufficiencies of Authors Frederick Kohner and Albert Mannheimer prove disturbing . . .

"As the plot was being unfolded, it occurred to me that somehow or other we have lost something rather precious in the demise of dramatic stock. We have lost, for instance, that camaraderie between audience and actor; we have become too demanding in our choices of entertainment; we are no longer willing to accept the simple things of life portrayed on the stage, unless there is a burning message of some sort or other.

"From a viewpoint of acting, believe it or not, the Carmel presentation of the little comedy had a good deal more to offer than the New York. . . I found the work of young Marcia Kuster far superior to that of Sybil Stocking.

"Miss Kuster plays a very difficult child role with complete naturalness and with none of that posturing and posing of the child actress. She not only read her lines intelligently but she did what is extremely difficult for an adult player, that is, to seem interested when she was not speaking. One of the hardest jobs in acting is to listen and few master it. Miss Kuster already has caught on to the trick."

GREEN PASTURES

Choosing a name for a Carmel home is one of the favorite pastimes of people who come to this community. A small painting of a meadow labeled Green Pastures with the name Elise Easton will be found on one of the Mayfair apartments. Mrs. Easton was for years a hostess at the Womens Athletic Club in Los Angeles and held other responsible positions. When she decided to retire and come to Carmel she said she felt as though she had been turned into green pastures.

THIRTY THREE NEW BABIES

Monterey Hospital has been running at full capacity turning out babies in the month of September. Fifteen of the new residents of the peninsula area are boys and eighteen of them are girls. Only one of the babies comes from the Carmel district, John Morris, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Morris Forbes who was born September 28 at the Monterey Hospital.

Foreign Affairs, Prices, Finances Discussed By Rep. Bramblett At Luncheon With Carmel Republicans

A discussion of the close relation between foreign affairs and finance made up the body of the remarks of Ernest K. Bramblett, representative from the eleventh congressional district to the national house of representatives, when he addressed a group of Carmel Republicans, both men and women, following a luncheon meeting at La Ribera Hotel last Friday.

To the thirty six men and women present Mr. Bramblett, who was formerly mayor of Pacific Grove, spoke of the difficulties and confusion in being a newly elected congressman. From his small place on the Agricultural Committee of the House he has been watching carefully and trying to adjust himself to the rumbling machinery which is Congress at work. The wonder is, he said, not only that any laws ever get passed, but also that the ones that do get passed are on the whole good. He spoke of the necessity of adjusting oneself realistically to the actualities of government if one is to survive in Washington.

On the subject of foreign loans Mr. Bramblett reported that he had voted with the majority on the question of loans to Greece and Turkey, but with misgivings caused by certain contradictions implied. He felt that Turkey should receive more support than Greece, since Turkey is a going concern. The foreign affairs of this country are in a complicated condition, was Mr. Bramblett's conclusion, and mere withdrawal from Europe would only postpone the day on which a stand must be made. Use of the atomic bomb would not solve the problem. "However," said Mr. Bramblett, "I have faith in this country. I believe that we will take care of ourselves."

The relation of loans and foreign affairs came in for some interesting comments by Mr. Bramblett. He emphasized the absolute necessity of having a House representative work with the State Department on the question of foreign loans and commitments, because all of the State Department's plans and policies are contingent on the money the House of Representatives may or may not vote for such purposes. The House will probably be increasingly reluctant to vote appropriations for foreign loans as time goes on, although the nineteen billion appropriation for the Marshall plan for the rehabilitation of Europe will be made if the House is convinced that the plan will accomplish its stated purposes.

On the question of the price situation, Mr. Bramblett said the prices for congressmen were just as high as for the rest of the country and that a solution for the price question was difficult to obtain. Rationing would be next to impossible, he said, because the right sort of people would be difficult to locate to administer the program, and in addition, government control is undesirable. The best solution, he said, would be for the government to stimulate production.

Following Mr. Bramblett's speech members of the group talked informally with him and asked various questions concerning legislation.

C. Edward Graves To Read Poetry For Literature Class

In response to many requests, the annual Poetry Evening of Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte's class in current literature has been arranged for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, October 7, in Room 11 of Sunset School.

C. Edward Graves, who since his retirement as Librarian of the Humboldt State College has been making his Colorful America kodachrome series, will have the first half hour for the reading of his free verse poems. These are philosophical and deeply moving appreciations of beauty after the manner of Walt Whitman. Following his contribution to the program, Mrs. Clairmonte will discuss imagist poetry which inaugurated the modern American movement, and will close the evening with a reading of her own lyrics.

As usual in meetings of this class, visitors are welcome to attend.

NEW P. O. CLERK

Edna Edwards is the new regular clerk at the Post Office as of October 1, having transferred here from Oakland, where she was employed in the Post Office for more than twenty years.

Sunset Honored For Stamp Sales Project

Arthur Hull, principal of Sunset School, this week received a marked copy of the fall issue of the periodical, School Savings Journal, published by the Treasury Department at Washington. On page 11 he found the photograph of George Wilkinson, Janet Huffman, Henry Overin and Margo Claypoole, seated in Sunset School before a chart recording the Stamp Day sales. Mrs. Sylvia Meeter Jordan is the instructor in charge and The Stamp Day treasurers for the year are Skipper Lloyd and Margo Claypoole.

The Treasury Department director of the School Section for Northern California wrote Mr. Hull: "The splendid savings program that you have inaugurated richly deserves this honor of being the only school in the United States to have its picture of its students in the School Savings Journal."

First Bach Chorus Rehearsal Oct. 7

On next Tuesday evening, October 7, the first rehearsal of the Bach Chorus for the Eleventh Carmel Bach Festival to be held in July, 1948, will take place in the Library of the Sunset School Auditorium. Gastone Usigli, who has again been engaged to conduct the 1948 Festival, will be on hand to direct the rehearsal as will also Angie Machado, in charge of subsidiary rehearsals.

Dene Denny and Hazel Watrous, founders and directors of the Carmel Bach Festival, have arranged for the Bach Chorus rehearsals to be carried on under the Carmel Adult School.

Everyone interested in singing is invited to join the Bach Chorus. The rehearsal will begin at 7:30.

Dr. Houghton Will Address Auxiliary

Dr. Henry S. Houghton, for forty years a medical missionary in China, will be guest speaker for the Women's Auxiliary at the Church of the Wayfarer on Tuesday afternoon. His topic is Phases of Missionary Life in the Far East. For thirty years Dr. Houghton was director of the Peking Union Medical College which operates under the Rockefeller Foundation, and during his last four years he was held a political prisoner by the Japanese, and after the war he retired and, with his wife, is living at Carmel Highlands. His accounts of his experiences before several organizations on the Peninsula have aroused great interest.

The group of members that work on leper bandages will meet at 10:30, and will be joined at a box lunch by other members at 12:30. The short business meeting will begin at 1:30, with the program following. Mrs. Carmalita Benson is president of the auxiliary.

Mayors To Meet For Navy Day Plans

In preparation for Navy Day, October 27, the three Peninsula Mayors, Dr. Hugh F. Dormody of Monterey, Fred Godwin of Carmel, and W. R. LaPorte of Pacific Grove, as honorary chairmen, and the twenty vice chairmen, representing local branches of the Navy, will meet for luncheon at Casa Munras next Tuesday.

Alfred C. Castle of Carmel, general chairman of the event, appointed a steering committee last Tuesday at luncheon and a peninsula-wide celebration is being planned. Rear Admiral George M. Lowry, USNR Ret., who is Northern California chairman, has pledged full support and has ordered mobilized units, window displays, etc., to be sent for the occasion.

REIMERS TO SHOW PICTURES

Nils Reimers will show the pictures he took in Europe on his recent trip before Mrs. Leota Tucker's class in Photography on Monday evening, October 6, at 8 o'clock, in the downstairs music room of Sunset School. This class is part of the Carmel Adult School program and visitors are welcome as well as students of photographic techniques. Mrs. Tucker conducts her classes Monday and Thursday evenings and also a special class for advanced students Monday afternoons from 2:00 to 4:00 at her Mission Trails Studio on Mission Street between Fourth and Fifth.

Walstons Present Varied, Enjoyable Program To Open M.A.C. Fall Season

BY EBEN WHITTLEY

An appreciative audience which nearly filled the Carmel Art Gallery enjoyed the first autumn concert of the Musical Art Club last Saturday evening, which presented Ellsworth Walston and Virginia Treadwell Walston, accompanied by Mildred Randolph Strand. The two singers, old friends of Musical Art Club members, are both soloists in Berkeley churches, and are well known in the San Francisco Bay area. Their varied program ranged from Handel to Romberg, including two charming duets from Mozart operas, and showed a wide variety of dramatic and lyric expression.

The two voices, individually very appealing, are splendidly matched for duet singing, as appeared from the reading of La Dove Prende, from The Magic Flute, and La Ci Daren La Mano, from Don Giovanni. The same ensemble qualities were apparent in the final encore, a duet entitled Love is So Sweet in the Springtime, by Sigmund Romberg.

Mr. Walston's first group opened with When I Am Laid In Earth, by Purcell, which has a warm quality and showed the singer's tone to advantage. This was followed by Handel's La Dove Sei, given with fine tone and breath control and a good lagato effect. Greensleeves, a folk song, showed Mr. Walston's excellent diction: Tu Sei Morta, by Monteverde, was handled with good dramatic effect, and showed improvement in the singer since he was last heard here.

Mrs. Walston's first group opened with O Mio Fernando by Donizetti, which is a demanding selection in range and variety to be attempted before the voice was warmed up. This was followed by La Girometta, by Sibella, charmingly sung by the artist. Die Aufenthalt by Schubert displayed warm tone color and gave evidence of a fine lower register. Zuignung by Richard Strauss was beautifully presented with a good understanding of this rather difficult composer.

Several other interesting selections rounded out a program which was notable for its variety and range. Mr. Walston was suffering from a cold which might well have discouraged a less hardy artist, but which had little effect on his performance, except that his voice tired sooner than it would otherwise have done. Despite this difficulty, his tone control and splendid pianissimo effects were noteworthy. Mrs. Walston has a charming stage personality which she conveys effectively to her audience. Her dramatic and whimsical selections particularly appear to advantage for this reason. The program was followed by refreshments served at the gallery for the members and their guests.

Harriet duBose

Harriet G. du Bose, 53, died September 29 in the Community Hospital as the result of gunshot wounds inflicted by a 76-year-old gardener before he slashed his own wrists on September 23. The Paul Mortuary made local arrangements to ship her remains to Stockton, where private services were held Wednesday.

Mrs. du Bose, a native of Stockton, and the widow of George du Bose, had been in her new Carmel home for only a week when the tragedy occurred. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Florence G. Holt of Carmel, and a brother, Frank

A. Guernsey of Repressa, California.

Fred Miller, the gardener, died the day after the shooting, and was buried in the Salinas Cemetery after private services held in the Paul Mortuary.

Carmel Story . . .

CHAPTER IV BIRTH OF A VILLAGE

BY DAISY BOSTICK

The Carmel Development Company proceeded to buy up all the land possible. First, they purchased all the Escolle holdings and any single lots available from the sales made by the earlier group. Later they secured that part of the John Martin ranch between Twelfth Ave. and Santa Lucia, and eventually took over Carmel Point and subdivided it. They also managed to get possession of all property along the shore line and they extended certain boundaries on the north.

And now the old John Martin ranch was almost all sold. Nothing was left of his original holdings but the land bounded by Santa Lucia, the Mission, Carmelo and the main highway. It was a beautiful sea of wild mustard and wild flowers and cattle grazed there contentedly. But a San Francisco capitalist, Willis Walker, bought it. One day the Carmel residents were shocked to see surveyors move in on the property and put up little white stakes, and soon the mustard and wild flowers were trampled by buildings, the cattle disappeared and houses began to spring up. Now the land which John Martin purchased in 1859 is dotted over with beautiful homes—a far cry from the original old building which sheltered him, his wife and their 10 children, the ancestors of many of the families which have grown up around here and have become the loved and respected members of Carmel and the Valley communities.

When San Francisco was devastated by earthquake and fire in 1906 many artists and writers were burned out and word got around that down on the coast there was a little village where they could establish themselves for a few dollars, where they could enjoy freedom from tiresome conventionalities, have fun, frolic, disagree with each other and carry a torch for what they believed essential to the arts. Carmel Development Company offered them special inducements and as a result many of them came down here and settled. Their individualism was so strong that they defeated the very purpose which led them to choose Carmel and as a result the place was thoroughly advertised in the newspapers all over the country and it became known as an Art Colony.

There were many famous ones amongst the early settlers. Among them were George Sterling, Jack London, Redfern Mason, John Kenneth Turner, Grace MacGowan Cooke and her sister Alice MacGowan, Sinclair Lewis, William Rose Benet, Jo J. Mora, Cornelius and Jessie Arms Brice, George and Catherine Seideneck, Ferdinand Burgdorff, Martin Flavin, De Neale Morgan, the Sidney Yards, John Northern Hilliard, James Hopper, Frederick Bechdolt, Ambrose Bierce, Arnold Genthe, Herbert Heron, Talbert Josse-lyn, William Silva, William Ritchel, Adrienne Spadoni, Van Wyck Brooks, Laura Maxwell. These and many others formed the nucleus of the first group of creative artists who made Carmel famous. At least half of those mentioned above are still here to carry out the traditions of the earlier time.

Fortunately the new owners, Frank Powers and J. F. Devendorf, had an appreciation of natural beauty and aimed to keep their tract truly a country village, to encourage home building with only as many stores as would supply the needs of the community. They abolished the hay-field down on the shoreline and planted pines and cypress trees along Scenic and San Antonio. These trees have now grown so high as partially to obstruct the ocean view to residents of these

THE YOUNG STAG

*The young stag sleeps, in the warmth of the day,
By a log in the muskeg swamp
Where the cliff drops down to the broken bay,
Where the fern grows green and damp;
With the sun on his hide, and the log for a rest
He stays in his high hill-camp.*

*The wood-pecker rattles among the trees,
The thin snipe cry through the moor;
The brackens rustle where musk-rats squeeze
Through stems on the hill by the shore;
But never a move does the young stag make
On the cliff where the eagles soar.*

*But when the sunshine wanes, when the day grows old,
The young stag rises and goes
With canter and bound, through swamp, across mound
And meadow. His white flag shows
To eagle and tern as by heather and fern
He travels the trails he knows.*

She rides on wings of quest,
The romance of the world
Deep-hidden in her breast.*

streets, some of whom have complained bitterly to the city fathers and have requested their removal.

Many vacant areas were reforested, especially in north Carmel and La Loma Terrace. Devendorf encouraged the incoming residents to plant trees. He put about fifty Japanese at work clearing out trash and dead underbrush, and trees were planted in the streets throughout the business section. Joe Hitchcock looks sadly reminiscent as he tells me that he was one of the group who planted the Ocean Ave. pines 43 years ago. There were at one time many pines on each side of the street as well as in the center. A prominent contractor who was engaged in paving Ocean Avenue, knowing how the people loved their trees and not daring to touch them by day, came at night and removed every tree on the north side of the street for a considerable distance, and when the business people arrived for work in the morning, there wasn't a tree, nor a hole in the ground, nor a chip to tell the infamous tale. Great indignation was expressed but nothing could be done about it. All the anger in the world can't put back a single growing thing. We Carmel people love our trees. That is our heritage. It is in our blood.

The San Francisco Land Company had surveyed and mapped the town. It was planned that Junipero Street should be the main business artery so it was made one hundred feet wide. And the street leading to the sea was to be very important, so that was given a hundred feet in width and was named Ocean Avenue. The lots bordering these two thoroughfares were allowed only twenty-five feet in width as against forty feet on residential lots. The small business lots were designed to take care of the needs of the small population that was expected to develop.

But towns seldom go the way they are planned. After the Development Company took over, instead of the merchants settling on Junipero, they chose Ocean Avenue and the tract owners could do nothing about it. The town grew rapidly. As the newcomers hadn't as yet learned to do without food and other necessities, and Monterey, the nearest shopping center, was four miles away, small unpretentious buildings began to spring up. Among the first was a store handling general merchandise including groceries. Mary Dummage, then Mrs. Norton, started a restaurant on the corner of Ocean and Dolores. Pine Inn, which had been built on Ocean and Junipero during the days of the early company, was moved to its present location. Soon came a bakery, a drug store.

Each year brought more development. There came into being a store where one might buy pins and needles and cotton cloth with an occasional excursion into bargains in women's house dresses and men's shirts. A hardware establishment provided workmen with hammers, saws, nails, doorknobs, latches and locks. Thomas Bernight started a candy store where the Russian Inn now stands and he was noted for his delicious caramels, and Delos Curtis, who succeeded him, made super-duper molasses candy, and when he turned it out once a week, all Carmel waited in line to get it.

And now Carmel was self-sustaining. It was getting beyond its first growing pains and though still a simple little village was becoming increasingly popular with home-seekers and tourists alike.

Outsiders loved its quarrels, its showiness, its crazy celebrations. Reporters came in and capitalized on the slogan, "Art for Art's Sake," and on the dissensions of the various factions. Owing to a very few irregularities in social relations, some of the big metropolitan dailies dubbed it a free love colony, although it really wasn't. Writers turned out best sellers, artists painted masterpieces, sculptors sculpted, dancers began to trip the light fantastic on the beach, and the music of violin and piano were heard in the forest during the still night.

(To be continued next week)

Alien Exclusion Laws Discussed At Council Of Civic Unity Meeting

"The strength of the nation is weakened more by those who suppress the freedom of others than by those who are allowed to think and act as their consciences dictate," and "only by zealously guarding the rights of the most humble, the most unorthodox, and the most despised among us can freedom flourish and endure in our land," quoted Mrs. Frances Ballard from the opinion voiced by Mr.

Justice Murphy of the United States Supreme Court, when she spoke to the Council for Civic Unity on Monday evening at the Girl Scout House. Mrs. Ballard gave a resume for the C.C.U. of the book, The Alien and the Asiatic in American Law, by Milton R. Konvitz, in a study financed by the Rockefeller Foundation and the Cornell University Fund for Research in Civil Liberties. Mrs. Ballard is a retired lawyer, graduate of Bryn Mawr and the University of Pennsylvania, and member of the Bar Association of Philadelphia and New York.

The book outlined the history of U. S. actions to exclude aliens, the first one in 1875 taken against convicts and prostitutes; the ban upon lunatics, idiots, and persons unable to care for themselves, in 1882; and the various Chinese exclusion acts in the 1880's. The Supreme Court then decided the constitutionality of immigration laws as an attribute of national sovereignty and therefore valid. There followed the movement for excluding the Japanese, culminating in the "gentlemen's agreement" with Japan for preventing immigration of her nationals, and the Supreme Court decision in 1922 that they were not eligible for citizenship, and two years later the law excluding all persons not eligible for citizenship, a measure which the Japanese government protested indignantly. This category was soon extended to the nations of most Asiatic countries. As the Philippines came under protection of the United States through our war with Spain, their position was somewhat anomalous, labeled as neither aliens nor citizens, but they were not excluded from the country.

California was the moving spirit in the legislation against immigration of Orientals, joined later by other Pacific coast states, moved by the economic competition of cheaper labor, but the difficulties of assimilation into western life gave a supporting reason. The author criticizes this attitude of the state and decries the discrimination against these minorities in the population. A somewhat similar pattern was followed with respect to European countries. From free and open immigration, when Theodore Roosevelt said, "All we have a right to question is a man's conduct," the country came to restriction and finally the quota system in 1924. Nationals of northern and western Europe were desired more than those of the southern and eastern parts; as the former had predominated very largely during the first century of our history, a proportional quota gave them eighty per cent of immigrants from Europe and the southern, eastern countries but twenty per cent, without discriminating against any countries by name.

Ideas and beliefs came into reasons for exclusion with the law against admitting anarchists and their like, in 1903, and jurisdiction over entry was given to the Secretary of Commerce and Labor; moreover the alien had no right to a public hearing nor to call witnesses in his behalf. The government's right to expel undesirable aliens was recognized in a law passed in 1798, which now came into greater use; in the years 1921-5 there were 26,000 deportations, and in the next five years, 64,000. Further, the alien did not have the constitutional rights of citizens, such as due process of law, and protection against searches and seizures. There was a bright side to the picture in that children born in this country of alien parents were automatically citizens unless the parent was an employee, official, or in some way still under the jurisdiction of the foreign country.

Tied in with the whole problem were the questions of race and color, complicating the difficulties, and fundamentally illogical, as many dark peoples discriminated against are pure Caucasian, which was named as standard for acceptance. Throughout the seventy-five years the Supreme Court has decided the constitutionality of the laws on immigration, often with a minority dissenting, the author believes with too little attention to the alien's normal human rights. The position of Negroes, citizens who face much discrimination, and of American Indians, who only recently were given unrestricted citizenship, comes in for discussion, as not the least illogical phase of the whole racial question. The present-day status of Americans of Oriental parentage and treatment of these citizens since the war's end, particularly in California, is another problem needing solution.

During Mrs. Ballard's presentation and following the conclusion, many questions and considerable discussion demonstrated the interest of the members of the Council for Civic Unity in the position of minority groups in the population. —L.L.T.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"It's Living That Counts"

I stole the title of this column from a magazine article that said a whole lot better than I can what farm and country life can mean.

We talk about farm profits, production, research, and mechanical improvements ... but isn't it true, what we really value is the life country living offers us? ... the chance to be close to our families and neighbors ... children sharing in the chores ... working with our own hands at a worthwhile job.

And country pleasures are simple: good talk at day's end, and a glass of mellow beer with friends ... the companionship of man and wife, unruffled by distractions of the city ... the mutual tolerance of one another's tastes—in choosing a friend, or a glass of beer, or a candidate for Governor.

Mind, I'm all for material improvements. But from where I sit, the real goodness of our country life is that spirit of tolerance, moderation, and good fellowship.

A novel of early Los Angeles, 1846, and of the American Conquest of California, Epic in scope, thrilling in action and brilliant in color. 3.00

ATLANTIC HARVEST Edited by Ellery Sedgwick

The Atlantic Monthly's editor comments with humor and wisdom on the essays, articles, chronicles and stories which he has selected for this volume from the magazine's pages, 1864 to 1938. Some will be remembered with satisfaction: others will be rediscovered with delight. It is a book to savor through the years. 4.50

BON APPETIT—The St. Louis Cook Book—by Isabel B. Marvin.

This is a cookbook for all the special occasions when the cook wishes to display her talents without too much extra work, occasions which should be celebrations, not ordeals. The book includes recipes in all the major categories, including hors d'oeuvres, jams and jellies, beverages, and a delectable menu section with ideas for everything from special Sunday breakfasts to barbecue suppers. 3.00

Back To Pasadena

Mrs. Margaret Lane, after a brief visit in Carmel, has returned to her home in Pasadena.

Wayfarer Wedding

Vineta Parry and W. T. Holden, both of Santa Cruz, came to Carmel last Friday afternoon to be married at the Church of the Wayfarer. Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, minister of the church, read the ceremony. The bride wore a gown specially designed for her by Luise Clohan of Saratoga, California. It was powder blue crepe princess style, hand painted with blue delphiniums. Her small hat had a blue snood veil and she wore a corsage of roses and delphiniums. Mrs. Charles Reed, Santa Cruz artist, her attendant, was gowned in black jersey with a yoke of pink, a coronet of pink and black in her hair, and she carried a bouquet of pink bovardia. Parker Hathaway of San Jose stood as best man. After the ceremony, a wedding tea was held at the Blue Bird. Attending were the wedding party, Mr. and Mrs. John Wellman of San Jose, parents of the groom, Mrs. Charlotte Mitchell, mother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. George Butler, Mrs. Parker Hathaway and Mrs. Holden's son, Kirk Parry. The new Mrs. Holden is active in art and musical circles and at one time did newspaper work on the Central News of Santa Cruz. The groom is a business man who was past Director of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce. Mr. and Mrs. Holden are spending their honeymoon in Carmel.

Hail And Farewell Tea

Mrs. Ramona Gahl and her mother, Mrs. Mary Chilcott of the Point, are inviting friends in from 4:00 to 6:00 Sunday afternoon, to meet Mrs. Gahl's house guests, Mrs. Frank Buford of Oklahoma City, Captain Ralph D. Gahl, and Mrs. Gahl of Castle Field, Merced. The occasion will also be a farewell to Mrs. Martha E. Newcomb, who is leaving for the east, and to Miss Vida Harker, who is going to Florida.

Report On Aynsley Chapple

Dora Hagemeyer, sister of Aynsley Chapple, has received word that he arrived safely in New Zealand, where he is visiting his mother. Aynsley appears to be recruiting New Zealander for America. When he returns to the States in January, his sister, Mrs. Deorwyn Fergus and Mr. Tim Gill, a former member of the R.A.F. during the war, will come with him.

Mrs. Gunther Returns Home

Mrs. William Gunther and her small son, Billy, who have been visiting her parents, Major Leroy Collins and Mrs. Collins, returned to her home in Baltimore last week. Mrs. Gunther spent three years in Carmel during the war, leaving here in 1945.

Smith-Dixon Marriage

Miss Maryan Marguerite Smith of Blithedale Terrace, Mill Valley, chose Saturday afternoon, September 27 at the Church of the Wayfarer for her marriage to Willis Keith Dixon of Hayward. In the presence of a group of friends and members of their families, the couple was married by the minister of the church, Dr. K. Fillmore Gray. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Joseph Wilson of Hayward attended as matron of honor and best man.

Mother's Club Elects Officers

The Junipero Serra Mother's Club met at the old rectory, Carmel Mission, Thursday, October 2.

The meeting was presided over by the new president, Mrs. Lawrence Melrose. Other new officers are: Mrs. Ray Zanetta, vice president; Mrs. Roger Gottfried, secretary; Mrs. Clarence Canham, treasurer. The two board members are Mrs. Robert Osborne and Mrs. Gunnar Swanson. Committee heads are Mrs. Clyde Coleman, membership; Mrs. Kenneth Doolittle, programs; Mrs. Carl Cope, publicity; Mrs. Clarence Canham, child welfare; Mrs. W. H. Tetley, hospitality and Mrs. E. W. Franklin, parliamentarian.

The projects decided upon for this year will be a turkey raffle for November, a food sale for February and a rummage sale for April.

Sister Superior Dolores Julie met with the ladies and gave a talk on the Rosary. Mrs. R. B. Stoney spoke on Prayer in the Home. The mothers are now busy with the project of furnishing books for the new library. Reference books and children's books for the elementary grades are needed. It was suggested that a book shower might fill the shelves. Anyone who has books of the type required is asked to communicate with any of the club officers. The next meeting will be held on November 6.

Brooks-Bocksmith Wedding

Miss Yvonne Brooks and Robert S. Bocksmith of Oakland were married at the Church of the Wayfarer on Sunday afternoon. The double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray. Mrs. J. R. Nielsen attended the bride as matron of honor and George De Rungs acted as best man. A large number of relatives and friends came down from Oakland for the ceremony.

Takes Cold to Hospital

John Clancy took his cold and himself to the Community Hospital, where he is wheezing and sneezing without endangering his family. They expect John to recover shortly.

Eve Boyden Back

Eve Boyden this week returned from New York, where she had flown last June in order to take courses at Columbia University. As a member of William Kunstler's writing class she was welcome at the Book and Author luncheons at the Astor Hotel, where she heard talks by Bennett Cerf, Margery Sharpe and other authors. She attended sessions of the United Nations at Lake Success, made frequent visits to the museums and the Planetarium, and took a cruise to Bermuda and Nassau. She is now engaged in writing travelogs for an eastern magazine.

Whitaker-Hutchings

Sheila Whitaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Whitaker, and Wynne Hutchings, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hutchings of Monterey were married August 14 in Annapolis, Maryland. Mrs. Whitaker and Sheila went to Washington, D.C. last summer to visit relatives. Wynne joined Sheila in the east and they were married in Annapolis. They are now making their home in Oak Grove and are back in their classes in High School.

Grays In Mill Valley

Dr. and Mrs. K. Fillmore Gray have gone to Mill Valley, where he will be the principal speaker tonight at the banquet celebrating the 40th anniversary of the founding of the Mill Valley Methodist Church. He was minister of the church from 1936 until 1940. He conducted the building campaign and helped to design the new building in which the celebration will be held tonight. The Grays will return to Carmel tomorrow. Their sons, Stephen and Stanton, have been in the care of Mrs. Gray's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Charles H. Burrill of Oakland, where they have recently moved from El Centro.

Attend Writer's Dinner

Mrs. Nora McCaffery Law will leave this week for Berkeley where she will attend the dinner at the Claremont Hotel given by the California Writers Club of which she is an active member.

Judge Ross Back From Trip

Judge George Ross, who flew to Brownsville, Texas, on a business trip returned to Carmel last week, after a ten days' absence.

Carlson-Albee Nuptials

Church of the Wayfarer was the scene of the wedding of Margaret Joanne Carlson and Ralph Albee both of Watsonville. The bride is a teacher in Watsonville.

Will Spend Winter in City

Cynthia Klein is settled in San Francisco with friends on Russian Hill, where she will remain for the winter.

Attended Cal-Navy Game

Mrs. Louise Grigsby and Mrs. Kathryn Landsdowne spent last week end in Oakland where they joined Commander and Mrs. F. M. Lansdowne and their son, Zachary Fenton, who had been having a holiday at Sequoia National Park. They all went to the Bill Grigsby home where they enjoyed a family party. After the Cal-Navy game they had dinner on the U.S.S. Piedmont. Commander and Mrs. Landsdowne came to Carmel with Mrs. Grigsby for a short visit in her valley home before returning to their home in San Diego.

Leaves Carmel

Gordon Cubbison, son of General D. C. Cubbison and Mrs. Cubbison, left Carmel early this week for San Francisco where he will be associated with Roos Brothers. Gordon has been a partner with John Wibby in the Whitney Restaurant. During the war, Mr. Cubbison served in the Philippines with the Army Field Artillery as a Major.

To P. E. O. Convention

Mrs. Daisy Taylor and Mrs. Lowell Bowhay leave this week end for the National Convention of the P. E. O. at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles from October 5 to 9.

Democratic Womens Club

President Truman, over the radio, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Democratic Womens Club, which will be held at the Girl Scout House, Wednesday, October 8, at 10:15 a.m. Discussions will follow the President's talk and coffee will be served. Those who attend may bring their sandwiches. The session will end at 12:30.

Happy Birthday

Courtney Carswell was four years old last Saturday and it was a big day for Courtney and his friends. Mr. and Mrs. Carswell took them all to the County Fair and naturally they had a party to start off the festivities, with a birthday cake and all of four candles twinkling on the frosting.

Mrs. Klein Returns

Mrs. Millard Klein is home again after spending 10 days in Berkeley, where she helped her daughter, Jacqueline and Jackie's husband, James Spencer, settle in their new apartment, which they were lucky to find near the campus. Both Jackie and James will attend the University.

Dr. Sparks, Secretary-Treasurer

At the monthly meeting of the Monterey Bay Area Chiropractic Association held last week at the Palomar Hotel, Santa Cruz, Dr. Francis Sparks of Carmel was elected secretary-treasurer, and his wife was elected secretary-treasurer of the newly formed Women's Auxiliary of the same association.

The Ruskell Baby

Monday night about 12:30 such a lusty yell penetrated into the hall of the Community Hospital that Speirs Ruskell, who was pacing up and down the well worn Worried Father Path, knew that he was the father of a boy. Speirs and Sheldene Ruskell, the parents, had a name all ready for the youngster. He will be John Speirs Ruskell and he weighed in at seven pounds and nine ounces. Speirs and Shell, as her friends call her, have a host of friends in this area. Shell graduated from Carmel High and afterward attended Miss Head's School in Berkeley. Speirs came to Carmel 12 years ago from Ireland. When Britain entered the war, he was offered a Captaincy if he would return to England, but although he was not a citizen of the United States, he volunteered as a private in the U. S. Army. He was sent to England and during an air raid sustained a broken back. Later he was returned to the States where he spent months in Army Hospitals. Speirs was separated from the Army and returned to Carmel. He is now employed at Fort Ord. The maternal grandmother, Mrs. Marjory Hartel is here from Southern California, standing by.

Those Wandering Nielsens

Friends who are trying to keep up with Walter Nielsen and his family will be interested to know that after their trip to Sweden, they returned to Copenhagen, where they parked the children, and Mrs. and Mrs. Nielsen set out on a trip that covered most of the continent. They took a boat to London, where they found conditions exceedingly rugged. Walter missed being able to pick up an apple or a banana from the counter, and he thought longingly of the good old days in the store he and his brother, Harold, own in Carmel. Hungry and not too warm, they left London for Paris. They flew to Switzerland and afterward visited Monte Carlo, Genoa, Amsterdam, Brussels and then back to Copenhagen, where conditions are better than any other place in Europe.

Granddaughter Nancy Arrives

News from Green River, Wyoming, comes in the form of a telegraphic announcement that Nancy Page Collins, weighing eight pounds, arrived at 6 p.m. Saturday. She is the daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. R. H. Collins. Present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Otrich of Carmel, Nancy's grandparents. The message concludes: "All are doing fine including Grandpa and Grandma Otrich. We are on a three weeks' eastern business trip."

Carmel Mission Altar Society

The Carmel Mission Altar Society will hold its first meeting at the home of Miss Blanche O'Neil, Thursday, October 9, at 2 p. m. Tea and a reception for the new members will follow the business meeting.

With Nancy Lofton

DRAX and ARIDEX and THE VILLAGE CLEANER on Ocean Avenue are three names you should remember. With DRAX and ARIDEX THE VILLAGE CLEANER makes any material water-repellent, and in addition, these two substances actually add beauty and durability to the material to which they are applied. A fabric treated with either Drax or Aridex, whether it's a raincoat, a slipcover, a table cover or curtains, will stay cleaner longer, look better and wear better than a fabric without it. These two substances also restore body and bloom to materials tired from use. Aridex may be applied to anything which is harmed by water, and Drax can be used for fabrics which do not take kindly to water—such as fine gabardines.

Those sheer things of beauty, one thread nylon stockings, may be had in THE STOCKING SHOP in the Golden Bough Court, even though stocking manufacturers are making rather close allotments. Mr. Sumner assures us he will continue to have a sufficiency of stockings of all shapes and sizes for Carmel women regardless of allotments. The most delectable of THE STOCKING SHOP'S new stockings are the off-blacks and off browns. The off-brown sheer is particularly nice in color, like a filmy cloud of smoke, and with a chocolate brown suit such a stocking would be most becoming. There are some very fine slips in the shop, too, at becoming prices. There's a well made handsome slip for $3.95, and a formal half slip in black among others, some lace trimmed and some plain.

We followed a delicious trail on the wind which led into FORTIER'S and up to an open bottle of perfume on the counter—which happened to be Adrian's Sinner scent. Other fine scents nearby were Guerlain's honored trio-Mitsouko and Blue Hour and Shalimar. But for a scent to call children from their chimney corners Caron's perfumes are unsurpassed. There's Bellodgia with its hint of lilies of the valley, and Fleur de Rocaille, and Black Narcissus and Christmas Night and Le Tabac Blonde—all of them magic.

THE CARMEL KIDDIE SHOP on Ocean Avenue has some exceptional things to offer this week. First there are charming little full-skirted, pique yoked dresses in fine cotton plaids for around six dollars. These come in sizes up to 6X, and there's a companion dress in gray and pink or blue stripes that is equally pretty, inexpensive and wearable. The all-wool pleated plaid skirts that every school girl must have may be had for around $4.95 in THE CARMEL KIDDIE SHOP in sizes up to teen ages. Coats for children up to size 14 are in stock now too. In the larger sizes there is a delightful model with a swing back and a hood, and for younger girls there are many styles and materials, including a cossack coat with white astrakhan.

Such delicacies of shaved almonds and puff paste and milk chocolate and glazed fruits and marmalades as we found in RENJIM'S on San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth! In addition to delectable cheese cake, RENJIM'S now has a group of Swiss pastries which look almost too beautiful to eat. Also you may have Swiss truffles or Linzer cake or English tea cake or cascade balls, which are wonderful affairs of fresh shredded coconut and chocolate. Ernest Wilson's chocolate rarebits decorate RENJIM'S counters and you may buy them by the quarter pound if you wish.

In LA DAME ROSE on San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth we found Johnny coats—which seems to be the name for knee length night gowns—in fine jersey in white, pink, blue, yellow or rose with a tiny lace collar and a lace inset yoke. They're pretty, inexpensive, washable and don't need ironing. Among the blouses there's one that comes in an almost edible shade of chocolate with simple lines and a nicely draped bosom. In the foundation department of LA DAME ROSE you'll find anything you need in the foundation line, including maternity girdles, brassieres, a garter hung from the shoulders, and Chaffies.

A roast turkey on your sideboard can bring you much pleasure this weekend, and from MAC'S POULTRY SHOP on San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth you may have a five and a half months old turkey weighing between 15 and 20 pounds at sixty five cents a pound which will be prime for roasting. You'll find Mac's fricassee hens a wonder of flavor and freshness at fifty five cents a pound, and, in addition, there are rabbits, colored fryers, roasters and fresh ranch eggs.

Pirie-Wibby Wedding

Jean Chapman Pirie and John Darlington Wibby slipped into the Church of the Wayfarer, Friday, September 26 at 4 o'clock and were married by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray. Only the two witnesses, Gordon Cubbison and Richard Beardslee were present. Immediately after the wedding, a surprise reception with about 40 invited guests, was given the bride and groom, at the Whitney home. A big wedding cake was cut by the bride and champagne was served. The new Mrs. Wibby came to Carmel from Long Beach, California. Her father is H. M. Chapman, City Clerk at Signal Hill. John Wibby is the son of Mrs. Margaret Wibby of Detroit. After serving in the Navy overseas, John was stationed at Monterey during the war and when he was separated from the Navy, decided to locate in Carmel where he and Gordon Cubbison have been the proprietors of Whitney's Restaurant on Ocean Avenue. John and Jean are now at home in The Pumpkin Shell.

Townsend's New Son

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Townsend of Carmel have just found the baby they have been searching for. He is a little boy only two weeks old now and was almost brand new when they got him. The baby has been named Robert Phelps Townsend and two happier people than his parents would be difficult to find. Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Blyth of Vancouver, B.C., who have been guests of the Townsends waited to give the baby an Okey and then departed for Canada. Mrs. Blyth is a cousin of Mrs. Townsend.

Mrs. Sawyer Home

Mrs. Louis B. Sawyer has returned to Carmel after a visit in Ogden, Utah, with her aunt, Mrs. T. S. Hutchison. Preceding her trip to Utah, Mrs. Sawyer had as her guests her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Tout of Ogden.

Hunted Indian Relics

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Robson are expected back this week end from a vacation spent in Washington and Oregon where they have gone on several trips hunting for Indian relics.

Daisy Bostick's Guest

Robert O'Neil was the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Daisy Bostick, last week end. He is now beginning his second year at the San Jose State College.

"The hills melted like wax at presence of the Lord of the whole earth. The heavens declare his righteousness, and all the people see his glory" (Psalms 97: 5, 6).

This is the Golden Text for the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, October 5. The subject is "Unreality."

The following citations are included in the sermon:

Isaiah: "He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might he increaseth strength. Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall: But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint" (40:29-31).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Scriptures say, 'They that wait upon the Lord . . . shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint.' The meaning of that passage is not perverted by applying it literally to moments of fatigue, for the moral and physical are as one in their results. When we wake to the truth of being, all disease, pain, weakness, weariness, sorrow, sin, death, will be unknown, and the mortal dream will forever cease" (p. 218).

St. John's Chapel Del Monte

The Rev. Theodore Bell
Chaplain

St. John's Chapel is a beautiful little church nestling in a grove of giant oak trees. Men and women from many lands have found it to be a place apart. It may be that you also will find its atmosphere congenial to the spiritual life. The Chapel is open all day long.
Those who seek in its stillness to grow more conscious of God's presence do not go unrewarded.
Sunday services at eight and eleven a.m. The Chapel is close to Hotel Del Monte.

Stand by Treharne, Communion by Purvis, O Saviour of the World by Goss, Himmel's Incline Thine Ear and Thompson's O King of Kings.

Junior and Junior High young people will have their Church School classes at 9:30 a. m., followed at 11 o'clock by the Kinde-

WOODCARVING CLASS

Charles Dawson, principal of the Carmel Adult School, has obtained the services of Commander Howell
Armor for teaching a woodcarving class which will open Wednesday evening, October 8, at 7:30, in the shop of Carmel High School. Commander Armor has been conducting private classes at his home in Carmel Woods but this is the first opportunity the public has had to benefit by his wide training and experience. During the summer he appeared each weekend in the Pine Inn Patio as part of the Clothesline Art Show, and his South Sea Island designs have become a part of the Carmel scene.

Everyone interested in learning to carve is invited to attend this class free of charge.

Woman's Club Presents Kamen In Pageant Of Peru

For its opening meeting on Monday, October 6, at the Carmel Theater, the Carmel Woman's Club will present Clifford J. Kamen and his Pageant of Peru, shown in color movies with accompanying narration.

Mr. Kamen's beautifully photographed and authentic Pageant of Peru tells the story of this South American country as it is today against a background of ancient Inca civilization and ruins. The film was produced after extensive research and with the full cooperation of the United States government and the government of Peru. It is an exciting picture drama in full color, integrating geography and history, welding primitive and modern into a fascinating panorama.

Following the meeting there will be a reception and tea honoring new members of the Club at the Girl Scout House, 6th and Lincoln Streets.

TOWN HALL SPEAKER HERE

Frederick Machetanz, author of Panuck: Eskimo Sled Dog, On Arctic Ice and illustrator of Here is Alaska, is spending the weekend at The Country House as the guest of Margaret Moffat White, organizer of the Monterey Peninsula Town Hall. Mr. Machetanz will be one of the 12 speakers to appear at Sunset Auditorium during the coming year under the auspices of the Town Hall.

LIONS CLUB SPEAKER

Commander Max Blackford, USN, addressed the Carmel Lions Club at their weekly dinner at the Mission Ranch Tuesday evening and explained the plans for the new Naval Training School to be situated in the present Del Monte Hotel at Monterey. Mark Raggett presided at the meeting and Dr. F. H. Sparks introduced the speaker.

OFF FOR EUROPE

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Colliard will leave on Tuesday for a three months' tour of Europe, making their headquarters in Paris. They have closed the Chop House and during their absence Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Shand will use the building for their temporary real estate office.

U.C.C.W. Collects Clothing For European Children

Outfits of children's clothing and school supplies are being collected this month by the Monterey Peninsula Council of Church Women for the children of the devastated countries of Europe. The Peninsula organization directed by Mrs. Ramsey Benson of Carmel, president, is cooperating with the national body, United Council of Church Women, in the drive, with 500,000 outfits as the goal, for the whole country, each outfit complete for a boy or girl in the six to thirteen years age-group. Nineteen women registered at the Church of the Wayfarer on Tuesday afternoon to work on the clothing bundles, and three machines were kept humming making over garments or making new ones from the large supply of clothing and material donated. A considerable amount of clothing needed no mending or alterations, and three or four blankets joined the pile that is ready to go. Many of the women took home work to be completed before the next meeting.

Clothing need not be new but must be clean and in good repair. Clubs and Sunday-School classes may well undertake collecting for one bundle and one box, but the bundle must contain only clothing, as all bundles will be put into a baler at the assembling depot and pressed into size and shape to fit into the large packing boxes for shipment overseas. Exact directions for packing bundles are given in the handbills being distributed to church groups and other organizations. Additional garments contributed will be combined with those received from other groups or churches and packed into bundles.

Each cooperating church has a chairman to take charge of the clothing and see to its shipment to a Church World Service Center, of which there are nine in the country. For this area the center is at Richmond. Mrs. Clarence Postelwaite is chairman for the Church of the Wayfarer. It is planned to hold a consecration service at the meeting of the Monterey Peninsula C. C. W. on World Community Day, November 7, with the bundles contributed as visible demonstration that Christians in America are giving more than life service to the ideals of universal brotherhood and peace.
